EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Associate Professor Sociology, University of Colorado Denver. The Department of Sociology at the University of Colorado Denver is conducting a search for a tenure track faculty member beginning Fall 2013. The search is open rank, but with a strong preference for an individual who can be appointed at the rank of Associate Professor with tenure. Open until filled.

Assistant Professor of Global Health, University of Washington. The Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation (IHME) and the Department of Global Health within the School of Medicine and the School of Public Health at the University of Washington are recruiting to fill several (up to four) full-time faculty positions at the level of Assistant Professor without tenure. The primary school of the appointment will be determined by qualifications. The successful applicants will have an MD or PhD in epidemiology, population health, biostatistics, health informatics, health economics, health policy, or a related field. The successful applicant will have a proven record of quantitative research in a health-related field, including statistical modeling using multiple and large data sets. Open until filled.

Lecturer of Global Health, University of Washington. The Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation (IHME) and the Department of Global Health within the School of Medicine and the School of Public Health at the University of Washington are recruiting to fill several (up to six) full-time faculty positions at the Lecturer non-tenure-track level. The school of the appointment will be determined by qualifications. The Lecturer(s) will be part of the Global Burden of Disease and Injuries team and have an important instructional role in mentoring pre-doctoral and post-doctoral fellows in the burden of disease and the field of health metrics. The Lecturer(s) may also work with fellows and colleagues in other countries. Open until filled.

Assistant/Associate/Professor, School of Health Professions Nutrition & Metabolism, University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston. Individual will: 1. Establish nationally recognized and externally funded research program in nutrition and metabolism with a focus on human aging; 2. Mentor faculty, postdoctoral fellows, and doctoral students interested in human nutrition, metabolism and aging research; 3. Contribute to the development of advanced graduate (PhD) and professional training (MS) in human nutrition, aging and related fields; 4. Establish research collaborations with faculty in the Institute for Translational Sciences and other centers, institutes and departments on campus and nationally. Open until filled.

Assistant Professor, Human Ecology of Water, Virginia Tech. The Department of Geography is seeking applicants for a tenure-track position in the area of the Human Ecology of Water as part of a cluster hire of seven new faculty positions within four departments and two colleges at Virginia Tech. This position focuses on interdisciplinary issues related to water with potential research foci in the social, political, and/or economic concerns and dynamics associated with water use, management, regulation, conservation, and justice – as well as human/environment feedbacks inherent in these processes at community and regional scales. Reviews begin March 20, 2013.

Public Policy Fellowships, Williams Institute at UCLA. In 2013, the Williams Institute will offer two Public Policy Fellowships to graduates of a recent graduate degree program, including MA, MS, MPP, MPH, JD, and PhD. The purpose of the fellowship is to support the public policy research of the Williams Institute on sexual orientation and gender identity issues. Submission deadline: April 1, 2013.

University Lectureship in Sociology; Demography, University of Cambridge. The Department of Sociology and Downing College are seeking to appoint a suitably qualified individual to a University Lectureship in Sociology; Demography or related fields. Applications are welcome from research-active sociologists engaged in work related to demography or migration including comparative demography; family demography; population ageing; transnational migration; immigration / ethnic minorities etc. Submission deadline: April 11, 2013.

Census Bureau Recruitment at the PAA. The U.S. Census Bureau has full-time opportunities in the domestic and international programs for qualified U.S. citizens in the areas of geography, demography, sociology, economics, and related social sciences. We are looking for candidates at all levels of education (BA, MA, PhD). Training in demographic analysis, survey research, geographic information systems, and/or quantitative data analysis of large datasets is preferred. These openings offer applicants the opportunity to work on one or more of the following topics: population distribution; population estimates and projections; housing; income; disability; health insurance coverage; education; and migration. Representatives will be recruiting during the Population Association of America (PAA) annual meeting in New Orleans, LA. We will conduct 30 minute informational recruiting sessions during the conference (April 11, 12). Please email David Zaslow to sign up prior to the conference or visit the Census Bureau’s exhibition booth during the meeting. A discussion about working at the Census Bureau will be held Friday, April 12th, from 2-3pm, in Salon 817.

Carolina Demography Unit Manager, The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. This person will provide direction and oversight to the newly formed Carolina Demography unit at the Carolina Population Center. This will be a leadership position that reports within the Center’s Research Services. The unit manager will join a research team with a wide scope of demographic research and application. This person will work closely with CPC Faculty Fellow advisors and will be responsible for the overall functioning and coordination of the Carolina
CPC STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

Demography Minor. The CPC offers a campus-wide minor in Demography that is open to PhD students in all social science graduate fields. Admission to the Demography minor requires that at least one member of the student’s special committee is a CPC affiliate. Students interested in signing up for the Demography minor should contact Lindy Williams or Geysa Smiljanic.
