EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Assistant/Associate Professor Rural Sociology and Demography, Penn State University. The Department of Agricultural Economics, Sociology, and Education, College of Agricultural Sciences, seeks applicants to fill a tenure track appointment at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor. The position is co-funded with Penn State’s Children, Youth and Families Consortium. This is a 9-month, full-time appointment with teaching, research, and service responsibilities. The successful candidate will be expected to develop a nationally recognized and interdisciplinary research program on the social demography of children, youth, and families living in rural and urban areas. While the best candidates within this broad arena are sought, focused expertise in one or more of the following areas would be regarded favorably: migration and immigration, population health, family demography, population and environment, socioeconomic inequality, international development, and spatial demography. Candidates with strong quantitative skills are especially encouraged to apply. Application deadline: Open until filled.

Associate Research Scientist (Demographic Research), NCCP, Columbia University. The National Center for Children in Poverty (NCCP) seeks an Associate Research Scientist, with expertise in demography, to conduct research on child poverty and its implications for policies at the national and state levels. The incumbent will analyze and manage large-scale data sets, create state profiles, write statistical and policy documents, and conduct empirical research on child poverty. Open until filled.

Associate/Full Professor, Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. The Department of Population, Family and Reproductive Health (PFRH) of the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health is seeking an outstanding leader in adolescent health for an appointment at the rank of Full or Associate Professor. This individual will serve as director of the Center for Adolescent Health (CAH), a CDC-funded Prevention Research Center (PRC) committed to promoting the transition of youth in Baltimore to healthy and productive adulthood, working in partnership with community agencies. Open until filled.

Assistant Professor of Demography, Health and Public Affairs, Princeton University. The Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University invites applicants for a tenure track assistant professor position in demography, health and public affairs, beginning fall 2013. The appointment may be made jointly with a social or natural science department. Areas of particular interest include family, fertility, marriage, epidemiology, health, disease, and development. Open until filled.

Associate/Full Professor of Demography, University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA). The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) has an opening for an Associate or Full Professor in the Department of Demography to begin Fall 2013. The successful applicant will have an outstanding publication record indicating national/international prominence; a strong record of acquisition of extramural funding; a record of teaching and student mentoring; and a strong commitment to teaching. The Department of Demography only offers a Ph.D. program, and all courses offered are at the Ph.D. level. Appointment will be in the Department of Demography within the College of Public Policy (COPP), with opportunities for involvement in research at the Institute for Demographic and Socioeconomic Research. Application deadline: October 1, 2012.

Assistant Professor of Anthropology, Brown University. The Department of Anthropology at Brown University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in socio-cultural anthropology with a specific focus in population studies. The geographical area is open, but expertise on Africa, Asia, or the Middle East is a plus. The successful candidate will be expected to participate actively in Brown’s Population Studies and Training Center, including pursuing an active research agenda and teaching and supervising graduate students in the department’s anthropology and population track. Application deadline: October 1, 2012.

Assistant Professor of Sociology, University of San Diego. The Department of Sociology at the University of San Diego invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin Fall 2013. The department is seeking an Immigration, Race & Stratification expert to contribute to our intellectual climate in the areas of social justice, inequalities, and criminalization of immigrants. Application deadline: October 1, 2012.

Associate Professor/Advanced Assistant Professor of Sociology, University of Utah. The Department of Sociology at the University of Utah invites applications for a tenured Associate Professor or tenure-track advanced Assistant Professor to begin July, 2013. We are seeking a sociologist who will contribute to the Department’s specialty in Population and Health. The successful applicant will have a strong record of success in research, including extramural funding and an accomplished record of scholarly publication. Preference will be given to candidates whose research focuses on medical sociology, family sociology, fertility, population aging, migration,
The University of Minnesota invites applications for two open-rank, full-time, tenure-track or tenured faculty positions. We seek demographers or population researchers who can actively contribute to the research and training missions of the University, the Minnesota Population Center (MPC), and affiliated colleges and academic units. For each position, the tenure home will be in Applied Economics, Geography, History, Public Affairs, Public Health (Epidemiology and Community Health and Health Policy and Management), Sociology or another unit affiliated with the MPC. Application deadline: October 5, 2012.

The Department of Sociology at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor. The Department is looking for a quantitative sociologist whose work complements one of the four substantive research areas: 1) population & health studies, 2) crime and deviance, 3) gender, and 4) environmental sociology. The applicant will be expected to teach graduate and undergraduate statistics courses at the beginning and advanced levels. The appointment will begin August of 2013 and applicants must have a PhD in sociology, demography, or comparable field by the time of the appointment. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

The Department of Sociology at the University of Massachusetts Boston invites applications for a tenure-track position with primary interests in family and/or education, with strong preference being given to candidates who also focus on gender, including research that explores the intersection of biology and gender; effective September 1, 2013. The appointment will be at the Assistant Professor level and requires completion of the doctoral degree in Sociology by the time of appointment. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

The Yale University Program in Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies intends to make a tenure-track assistant professor appointment, to begin July 1, 2013, in the field of gender, sexuality and transnational migration. We are interested in seeking research on migration across the Global South, and especially across and within Africa, Latin America, South-east Asia, and the Caribbean. Scholars in the social and human sciences, humanities, law, environmental studies, as well as those trained in interdisciplinary fields are encouraged to apply. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

Sociologists in labor and population research at RAND work on multi-disciplinary teams to explore research topics such as U.S. labor markets, demography of families and children, social welfare policy and family and child well-being, financial decision making, social and economic functioning of the elderly, and economic and social change in developing countries. The RAND Corporation invites applications for junior, mid-career, and senior sociologists interested in labor and population research. RAND is a non-profit policy research organization with over 600 full-time researchers that houses the RAND Graduate School, the world's leading producer of PhDs in policy analysis. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

Binghamton University's Department of Sociology is seeking to recruit a tenure-track assistant professor beginning in Fall 2013. Work should center upon Asia, broadly defined; an interest in China is particularly welcomed. Applicants with degrees from any related discipline who can complement our research and teaching interests are encouraged to apply. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.
Assistant Professor, Innovative Methodology, Arizona State University. The School of Social and Family Dynamics (SSFD), an interdisciplinary unit at Arizona State University, announces an open tenure-track Assistant Professor position aimed at building on SSFD's existing strengths in innovative and interdisciplinary research focused on children, youth, and families. We anticipate that this is the first in a series of cluster hires in innovative methods. We seek colleagues with exceptional records of interdisciplinary collaborative research whose work focuses on the development or application of novel research methodologies, including research design, measurement, data collection, and data analysis, related to SSFD's core focus on children, youth, and families. Candidates must have a PhD or equivalent by time of appointment (Fall 2013) in human development, education, sociology, or related field. Application deadline: October 21, 2012.

Assistant or Associate Professor of Demography, Université de Montréal. The Demography Department is seeking candidates for a full-time tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position specializing in population aging. Successful candidate are expected to teach all three levels of the curriculum, supervise graduate students, conduct research, produce publications, and contribute to the reputation and academic life of the institution. The expected starting date will be June 1, 2013. Application deadline: November 5, 2012.

Assistant Professor of Sociology, McGill University. Applications are invited for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position, commencing August 1, 2013. (While the appointment is expected to be at the rank of Assistant Professor, appointment at the rank of Associate may be possible under exceptional circumstances.) We are looking to expand our strength in the area of Population Dynamics. Within this substantive area, all research foci are of interest. However, research on critical issues in developing countries such as fertility and urbanization is particularly welcome. This position is part of an initiative in the Faculty of Arts to become a major centre for research and teaching on population dynamics. Ability to teach quantitative methods (including demographic methods) is expected. Application deadline: November 23, 2012.

RAND Postdoctoral Training Program in the Study of Aging. The RAND Postdoctoral Training Program in the Study of Aging enables outstanding junior scholars in demographic and aging research to sharpen their analytic skills, learn to communicate research results effectively, and advance their research agenda. Housed within RAND Labor and Population, the program blends formal and informal training and extensive collaboration with distinguished researchers in a variety of disciplines. Fellowships are for one year, renewable for a second. Each fellow receives a competitive annual stipend, travel stipend and health insurance. Application deadline: February 22, 2013.

CPC STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES
Demography Minor. The CPC offers a campus-wide minor in Demography that is open to PhD students in all social science graduate fields. Admission to the Demography minor requires that at least one member of the student’s special committee is a CPC affiliate. Students interested in signing up for the Demography minor should contact Lindy Williams or Geysa Smiljanic.

Fall 2012 ISS Graduate Research Grant Proposals. During Fall 2012, a number of grants will be awarded to graduate students in the social sciences and history who are engaged in research related to the themes of the ISS project on Immigration: Settlement, Integration and Membership. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

International Research Travel Grant. The Mario Einaudi Center and its associated Programs sponsor the International Research Travel Grants. These grants provide travel support for Cornell University graduate students conducting short-term research and/or field work in countries outside the United States. Applicants must be enrolled in an approved PhD or Masters degree program at Cornell University. They must also show proof that they have applied for funding from the Director of Graduate Studies in their own fields of study. Application deadline: Early February, 2013.
