EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Open Rank Professor of Population Studies/Demography, University of Minnesota. The University of Minnesota invites applications for two or three open-rank, full-time, tenure-track or tenured faculty positions. We seek demographers or population researchers who can actively contribute to the research and training missions of the University, the Minnesota Population Center (MPC), and its affiliated colleges and academic units. We seek demographers with established or emerging lines of high-quality population research. That research may be on any number of substantive areas within demography including (but not limited to) fertility, mortality, migration, historical demography, labor force dynamics, household and family dynamics, education and human capital, population and the environment, neighborhoods and urbanization, aging, and population approaches to health disparities and health policy. Open until filled.

Research and Policy Analyst, Demographics & Workforce Group, University of Virginia. The Demographics & Workforce Group of the University of Virginia’s Weldon Cooper Center for Public Service wish to expand our public service capabilities by attracting top quality professionals interested in demographic research and its application to public discourse and policy. The position (#0612864) requires a graduate degree in demography, sociology, economics, geography, statistics, public policy, or related fields. Proficiency in SAS, STATA or R is required. Open until filled.

(3) Assistant Professor of Sociology, LSU. The LSU Department of Sociology invites applications for three tenure-track assistant professor positions beginning August 2014. We seek applicants with specializations in environment/natural resources, community/social capital, and criminology/law in order to enhance our existing strengths in these areas. Candidates should show promise of developing a strong record of publications; potential for research funding is also desirable. Submission deadline: October 11, 2013.

Research Scientist, Harvard Center for Population and Development Studies. The Harvard Center for Population and Development Studies (HCPDS) is a University-wide initiative, dedicated to interdisciplinary research focused primarily on population change, socioeconomic development, and public health. The Center is embarking on a longitudinal program project (P01) called Health and Aging in Africa: Longitudinal Studies in Three INDEPTH Communities (HAALSI) funded by NIH. The HCPDS seeks a term-limited, full-time research scientist who will act as the single point of contact and intermediary for the four projects, cores, and field sites. The desired candidate will have both an administrative and technical role. Submission deadline: October 14, 2013.

(4) Postdoctoral Research Fellowships in Economics, Nuffield College, University of Oxford. The Department of Economics, in partnership with Nuffield College offer Postdoctoral Research Fellowship openings for candidates who have recently been awarded a doctoral degree or will have by December 2014. Fellows enjoy the freedom and facilities to develop their research portfolios, so strengthening their positions in the academic job market. Fellowships are tenable for a fixed term of three years from September 2014; shorter appointments are considered in exceptional circumstances. Fellows gain teaching experience via a minimal teaching load which will not exceed 30 hours annually. Consideration will be given to any field of specialization. Submission deadline: October 14, 2013.

We are seeking highly qualified candidates who are committed to a career in research and teaching. Submission deadline: November 15, 2013.

Open Rank Professor in Latin American Health, UCLA. The Department of Community Health Sciences, UCLA School of Public Health, seeks to fill a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in Latin American health. Scholarly emphasis of the applicant should be on evidence-based practice, policies, and programs that impact community and population health. Our multidisciplinary faculty has a strong history of ongoing research and graduate education (MPH, MSPH, DrPH, PhD programs), and conducts research programs in both domestic and global contexts. Submission deadline: November 15, 2013.

(3) Assistant/Associates Professor for Department of Family Science, University of Maryland, College Park. The Department of Family Science, School of Public Health, University of Maryland, College Park seeks to fill three full-time tenure-track Assistant/Associate Professor positions in Maternal and Child Health (position #119298), Family Health and Well-Being (position #119297), and Couple and Family Therapy (position #119296). Submission deadline: November 30, 2013.

Associate or Full Professor of Environmental Economics, American University. One tenure-line opening beginning August 2014 in environmental economics at the associate or full professor level (with tenure likely at hiring). Candidates should have on-going external funding, interest in policy-relevant research, strong quantitative skills, excellent teaching credentials, and the ability to supervise doctoral dissertations. Candidates whose research would link to interdisciplinary fields such as decision sciences and those working in the area of behavioral economics are especially encouraged to apply. Submission deadline: November 30, 2013.

Assistant Professor in Human Geography, UC Santa Barbara. The University of California, Santa Barbara, Department of Geography, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Human Geography at the rank of Assistant Professor. The successful candidate will exhibit clear potential for a robust extramurally funded research program in Population, Development, and/or Health that is empirically grounded and informed by social science theory. Candidates will preferably have research programs that integrate at least two of these domains. Submission deadline: November 30, 2013.

PAA Fellowship. The Population Association of America is delighted to offer an exciting opportunity for PAA members: participation in the prestigious Science and Technology Fellowship Program of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS). This fellowship brings researchers to Washington, DC to use population science, outside of the academic setting, to inform public policy and work for one year in a federal agency. The fellowship pays a competitive salary. Submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

Postdoctoral Scholar, Stanford Center on Poverty and Inequality. The Stanford Center on Poverty and Inequality, one of three national poverty centers, is seeking a postdoctoral scholar for 2014-15 (with a possibility of renewal for a second year). The scholar is expected to complete her or his own research as well as work collaboratively with Center faculty, staff, and students to produce original scholarship on trends in poverty and inequality. The appointment will be for one year with a start date of October 1, 2014. Submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

RAND Postdoctoral Training Program in the Study of Aging. The RAND Postdoctoral Training Program in the Study of Aging enables outstanding junior scholars in demographic and aging research to sharpen their analytic skills, learn to communicate research results effectively, and advance their research agenda. Housed within RAND Labor and Population, the program blends formal and informal training and extensive collaboration with distinguished researchers in a variety of disciplines. Fellowships are for one year, renewable for a second. Each fellow receives a competitive annual stipend, travel stipend and health insurance. Submission deadline: February 21, 2014.

CPC STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

Demography Minor. The CPC offers a campus-wide minor in Demography that is open to PhD students in all social science graduate fields. Admission to the Demography minor requires that at least one member of the student’s special committee is a CPC affiliate. Students interested in signing up for the Demography minor should contact Lindy Williams or Geysa Smiljanic.

2014 RWJ Health Policy Doctoral Fellowship. The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) Center for Health Policy at the Meharry Medical College will award up to five new doctoral fellowships for its Health Policy Fellows Program. The Health Policy Fellows Program is a prestigious doctoral fellowship program for students with educational and research interests that include health and health policy analysis and research. The RWJF Health Policy Fellows Program seeks to increase the participation of underrepresented groups throughout the nation in the development, implementation, and analysis of health policy. Priority deadline: January 15, 2014.

Pre- and Postdoctoral Visiting Research Fellows, Center for Comparative Immigration Studies (CCIS), UC San Diego. CCIS offers a limited number of Visiting Research Fellowships at both the predoctoral and postdoctoral levels each academic year. These awards are to support advanced research and writing on any aspect of international migration and refugee flows, in any of the social sciences, history, and law. Due to funding constraints, CCIS awards fellowships only to scholars who have a current or former affiliation with a University of California campus. The duration of the fellowship is usually 9-10 months. No summer-only fellowships will be awarded. Submission deadline: January 31, 2014 (for 2014-15).
