FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES
Fall 2012 ISS Graduate Research Grant. Submission deadline: October 15, 2012.

Basic Social and Behavioral Research on Culture, Health, and Wellbeing (R24), Letter of Intent Due: November 16, 2012; Application Due: December 17, 2012.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES
Two tenure-line faculty positions, Stanford University. The Center for Primary Care and Outcomes Research (PCOR) in the Department of Medicine at the Stanford University School of Medicine, invites applications for two tenure-line faculty positions. One position will be at the assistant professor level; the other is open to candidates at the assistant, associate, or full professor level. One position is for a scholar with expertise in health economics; the second position seeks a scholar with expertise in comparative effectiveness, medical decision sciences, cost-effectiveness analysis, or outcomes research. The successful candidate for at least one of the positions will be expected to develop a significant program in evaluating health policy or health interventions in international settings. Open until filled.

Assistant or Associate Professor of Social Stratification, Pennsylvania State University. The Department of Sociology & Crime, Law and Justice, University Park campus, invites applications for an assistant or early associate tenure-line position in the general area of social stratification to begin August, 2013. We are interested in scholars conducting research on the causes and consequences of stratification, inequality and social change processes. Candidates should have a strong publication record, a strong commitment to securing external funding, and a commitment to teaching and mentoring students. Application deadline: open until filled.

Assistant Professor of Sociology & Crime, Law and Justice, Pennsylvania State University. The Crime, Law and Justice (CLJ) Program in the Department of Sociology & Crime, Law and Justice at Penn State, University Park campus, invites applications for an assistant tenure-line position to begin August, 2013. The area of research specialization within CLJ is open. Faculty members’ work spans a range of topics in criminology and criminal justice and is enhanced by the presence of several Penn State centers and research initiatives, including the Social Science Research Institute; the Justice Center for Research; the Children, Youth, and Families Consortium; the Population Research Institute; and the Pennsylvania Commission on Sentencing (a state agency located on campus), among others. Application deadline: open until filled.

Southwest Borderlands Faculty, Arizona State University. Arizona State University announced the Southwest Borderlands (SWB) initiative in 2001 as a long term faculty appointment plan with two primary objectives: the strengthening of existing ASU scholarly and instructional resources on the Southwest with emphasis on the region along the United States-Mexico border, and enhancing institutional recruitment and retention efforts toward building a faculty fully reflective of the Southwest Borderlands’ diversity. The regional needs and shifting demographics of the borderlands of the U.S. Southwest are strategic areas of keen concern for many academic, policy, and other researchers. These needs and population changes have had extraordinary impact on multiple communities throughout the region, including business, education, health, housing, law enforcement, sports and entertainment, and many others. Open until filled.

Technical Adviser (Population and Sustainable Development), Asia and the Pacific Regional Office. The Technical Adviser post is located in the Regional Office (RO) in Bangkok, and is under the overall supervision of the Regional Director and reports directly to the Deputy Regional Director. S/he is the principal adviser at the regional level for integrated technical and programme advice in population and sustainable development, with a focus on population ageing and migration patterns and their implications on national/sub national policies and planning, poverty reduction, economic and social development, urbanization, migration, environment, climate change and sustainable development. Application deadline: October 15, 2012 (5:00pm EST).

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor of Population Studies/Demography at University of Minnesota. The University of Minnesota invites applications for two open-rank, full-time, tenure-track or tenured faculty positions. We seek demographers or population researchers who can actively contribute to the research and training missions of the University, the Minnesota Population Center (MPC), and affiliated colleges and academic units. For each position, the tenure home will be in Applied Economics, Geography, History, Public Affairs, Public Health (Epidemiology and Community Health and Health Policy and Management), Sociology or another unit affiliated with the MPC. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

Assistant Professor, Quantitative Sociology, University of Colorado-Boulder. The Department of Sociology at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor. The Department is looking for a quantitative sociologist whose work complements one of the four substantive research areas: 1) population & health studies, 2) crime and deviance, 3) gender, and 4) environmental sociology. The applicant will be expected to teach graduate and undergraduate statistics courses at the beginning and advanced levels. The appointment will begin August of 2013 and applicants must have a PhD in sociology, demography, or comparable field by the time of the appointment. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

Assistant Professor of Sociology, Family/Education, University of Massachusetts, Boston. The Department of Sociology at the University of Massachusetts Boston invites applications for a tenure-track position with primary interests in family and/or education, with strong preference being given to candidates who also focus on gender, including research that explores the intersection of biology and gender; effective September 1, 2013. The appointment will be at the Assistant Professor level and requires completion of the doctoral degree in Sociology by the time of appointment. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

Assistant Professor of Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, Yale University. The Yale University Program in Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies intends to make a tenure-track assistant professor appointment, to begin July 1, 2013, in the field of gender, sexuality and transnational migration. We are interested in seeking research on migration across the Global South, and especially across and within Africa, Latin America, South-east Asia, and the Caribbean. Scholars in the social and human sciences, humanities, law, environmental studies, as well as those trained in interdisciplinary fields are encouraged to apply. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

Sociologist, Labor & Population, The RAND Corporation. Sociologists in labor and population research at RAND work on multi-disciplinary teams to explore research topics such as U.S. labor markets, demography of families and children, social welfare policy and family and child well-being, financial decision making, social and economic functioning of the elderly, and economic and social change in developing countries. The RAND Corporation invites applications for junior, mid-career, and senior sociologists interested in labor and population research. RAND is a non-profit policy research organization with over 600 full-time researchers that houses the RAND Graduate School, the world's leading producer of PhDs in policy analysis. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

Assistant Professor of Sociology at SUNY-Binghamton. Binghamton University’s Department of Sociology is seeking to recruit a tenure-track assistant professor beginning in Fall 2013. Work should center upon Asia, broadly defined; an interest in China is particularly welcomed. Applicants with degrees from any related discipline who can complement our research and teaching interests are encouraged to apply. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

Assistant Professor, Innovative Methodology, Arizona State University. The School of Social and Family Dynamics (SSFD), an interdisciplinary unit at Arizona State University, announces an open tenure-track Assistant Professor position aimed at building on SSFD's existing strengths in innovative and interdisciplinary research focused on children, youth, and families. We anticipate that this is the first in a series of cluster hires in innovative methods. We seek colleagues with exceptional records of interdisciplinary collaborative research whose work focuses on the development or application of novel research methodologies, including research design, measurement, data collection, and data analysis, related to SSFD's core focus on children, youth, and families. Candidates must have a PhD or equivalent by time of appointment (Fall 2013) in human development, education, sociology, or related field. Application deadline: October 21, 2012.

Assistant Professor of Sociology, Case Western Reserve University. The Department of Sociology in the College of Arts and Sciences at Case Western Reserve University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor. We seek a candidate who can contribute to undergraduate and graduate training in areas of social demography or quantitative methods, and whose research and teaching interests complement and extend one or more of our current departmental strengths in age/life course, inequality and medical sociology/health. Application deadline: October 22, 2012.

Assistant or Associate Professor of Demography, Université de Montréal. The Demography Department is seeking candidates for a full-time tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position specializing in population aging. Successful candidate are expected to teach all three levels of the curriculum, supervise graduate students, conduct research, produce publications, and contribute to the reputation and academic life of the institution. The expected starting date will be June 1, 2013. Application deadline: November 5, 2012.

Postdoctoral Research Fellowships, Nuffield College. Nuffield College intends to appoint, with effect from 1 September 2013, a number of Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellows (PPRFs). Applications are invited from graduates of any country wishing to undertake research in any area of the social sciences except Economics, for which there is a separate competition. Applicants who wish to undertake research in Economic History, or interdisciplinary research which includes Economics will be considered. The main interests of the College are in Economics, Politics and Sociology, but these are broadly construed to include, for example, social science approaches to history, social and medical statistics, international relations, social psychology, public policy, and social policy. Application deadline: November 5, 2012.

Assistant Professors and (1) Associate or Full Professor of Sociology, University of Connecticut. The Department of Sociology at the University of Connecticut invites applications for two tenure-track positions at the Assistant Professor level, and one at the tenured Associate or Full Professor level, with a starting date of August 23, 2013 (Search # 2013179). We are seeking candidates who will pursue rigorous research programs, contribute to graduate and undergraduate teaching, provide service to the university and the profession, and seek external funds to support their scholarly activities. The areas of hiring priority are sociology of family; race, racism and ethnic group relations; and sociology of culture or social movements. Application deadline: November 9, 2012.
Assistant or Associate Professor of Sociology & El Instituto, University of Connecticut. The Sociology Department at the University of Connecticut invites applications for a tenure track position to begin August 23, 2013 (Search #2013182). The successful candidate will be jointly appointed with the El Instituto. The successful candidate will pursue rigorous research programs, contribute to graduate and undergraduate teaching, provide service to the university and the profession, and seek external funds to support their scholarly activities. Candidates must have an earned PhD in Sociology by August 23, 2013; research that focuses on Latino populations in the United States; ability to teach qualitative research methods; and substantive research interests in at least one of the following areas of specialization: health and health care organization; gender and sexuality, labor, family, criminology.. Application deadline: November 15, 2012.

Assistant Professor of Sociology, McGill University. Applications are invited for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position, commencing August 1, 2013. (While the appointment is expected to be at the rank of Assistant Professor, appointment at the rank of Associate may be possible under exceptional circumstances.) We are looking to expand our strength in the area of Population Dynamics. Within this substantive area, all research foci are of interest. However, research on critical issues in developing countries such as fertility and urbanization is particularly welcome. This position is part of an initiative in the Faculty of Arts to become a major centre for research and teaching on population dynamics. Ability to teach quantitative methods (including demographic methods) is expected. Application deadline: November 23, 2012.

AAAS Science & Technology Policy Fellowships. The AAAS Science & Technology Policy Fellowships are opportunities for professional development and public service. They are operated by AAAS as part of its mandate to “advance science and serve society.” The aim is to foster scientifically informed, evidence-based policy and practice by involving scientists and engineers from a broad range of disciplines, backgrounds and career stages to engage their knowledge and analytical skills while learning first-hand about policymaking and implementation at the federal level; and to build leadership for a strong S&T enterprise that benefits all people. Application deadline: December 5, 2012.

RAND Postdoctoral Training Program in the Study of Aging. The RAND Postdoctoral Training Program in the Study of Aging enables outstanding junior scholars in demographic and aging research to sharpen their analytic skills, learn to communicate research results effectively, and advance their research agenda. Housed within RAND Labor and Population, the program blends formal and informal training and extensive collaboration with distinguished researchers in a variety of disciplines. Fellowships are for one year, renewable for a second. Each fellow receives a competitive annual stipend, travel stipend and health insurance. Application deadline: February 22, 2013.

CPC STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

Demography Minor. The CPC offers a campus-wide minor in Demography that is open to PhD students in all social science graduate fields. Admission to the Demography minor requires that at least one member of the student’s special committee is a CPC affiliate. Students interested in signing up for the Demography minor should contact Lindy Williams or Geysa Smiljanic.

Fall 2012 ISS Graduate Research Grant Proposals. During Fall 2012, a number of grants will be awarded to graduate students in the social sciences and history who are engaged in research related to the themes of the ISS project on Immigration: Settlement, Integration and Membership. Application deadline: October 15, 2012.

2013-2014 IAF Fellowship Competition. Fellowships are available to currently registered students who have advanced to candidacy (by the time research begins) for the Ph.D. in the social sciences, physical sciences, technical fields and the professions as related to grassroots development issues. Awards are based on both development and scholarly criteria. Proposals should offer a practical orientation to field-based information.

International Research Travel Grant. The Mario Einaudi Center and its associated Programs sponsor the International Research Travel Grants. These grants provide travel support for Cornell University graduate students conducting short-term research and/or field work in countries outside the United States. Applicants must be enrolled in an approved PhD or Masters degree program at Cornell University. They must also show proof that they have applied for funding from the Director of Graduate Studies in their own fields of study. Application deadline: Early February, 2013.
