FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

Secondary Analyses of Social and Behavioral Datasets in Aging (R03). The purpose of this FOA is to solicit R03 applications for up to two years for secondary analysis of data on aging in the areas of psychology, social epidemiology, economics, sociology, and demography. Application deadline: February 3, 2014.

The 2014 Steven H. Sandell Grant Program. The Center for Retirement Research at Boston College announces the 2014 Steven H. Sandell Grant Program for research on retirement income and policy, funded by the U.S. Social Security Administration. Submission deadline: February 14, 2014.

NICHD/NIH, Population Dynamics Branch (PDB). The PDB (formerly the Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch) supports research and research training in demography, reproductive health, and population health. Ongoing FOAs.

NIA/NIH, Division of Behavioral and Social Research (BSR). The Division of Behavioral and Social Research (BSR) supports social, behavioral, and economic research and research training on the processes of aging at both the individual and societal level. Ongoing FOAs.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Frank H.T. Rhodes Post-doctoral Fellowship. The Cornell Population Center (CPC) invites applicants for the Frank H.T. Rhodes Post-doctoral Fellowships (#22245). The start date for the position will be August 15, 2014 and will be funded for 2 years, subject to a satisfactory first year evaluation. Selection will be based on scholarly potential, ability to work in multi-disciplinary settings, and the support of a faculty mentor and CPC affiliate at Cornell who will work closely with the post-doctoral associate. Preference will be given to fellows with research interests in areas broadly related to the CPC’s four main foci: families & children; health behaviors & disparities; poverty & inequality; and immigration & diversity. Submission deadline: January 20, 2014.

Research Scientist/Associate, Population Research Institute, Pennsylvania State University. The Population Research Institute (PRI) and the Social Science Research Institute (SSRI) at the Pennsylvania State University are seeking to hire a Research Scientist/Research Associate (job#: 40990) with expertise in the areas of GIS and spatial analysis. As the research scientist will meet with faculty in many disciplines and encounter diverse types of data and methods, the applicant should have a PhD in a relevant field (sociology, geography, economics, etc.), and possess a broad array of skills in research methods with an emphasis on spatial statistics and GIS applications in the health and social sciences; experience in the area of network data and analysis would also be a plus. Experience and high levels of familiarity with a diverse set of health and social science data sets is preferred. Open until filled.

Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor of Economics, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The Economics Department of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for a tenure track or tenured position at the assistant, associate, or full professor level in the field of applied micro economics. The applicant must have a research record in population-related fields such as labor, health, education, and/or family economics, and will have an opportunity to be a fellow of the Carolina Population Center. Fall and additional interviews will take place at the AEA meetings in January 2014. Open until filled.

Research Associate, Center on Labor, Human Services, & Population (LHP) at the Urban Institute. The LHP is seeking a Research Associate (Job# 1890) with strong quantitative skills to conduct empirical studies related to household finance, asset building, poverty, labor, and social policy for low-income populations. Individuals will have responsibility for developing conceptual models, conducting empirical studies, and writing and presenting reports to academic and policy audiences. The position also requires participation in the center’s proposal writing initiatives. Ph.D. in economics or related discipline with strong economics and econometrics training, as well as strong writing and communication skills, relevant substantive knowledge, and social policy research experience needed to perform the duties described above. Open until filled.

Research Associate, Center on Labor, Human Services, & Population (LHP) at the Urban Institute. The Urban Institute’s Center on Labor, Human Services, and Population is seeking a Research Associate (Job# 1892) to conduct research studies on early childhood programs and policies, including studying systems, child and family outcomes, program implementation, and program evaluation in areas such as child care, Head Start and Early Head Start, state prekindergarten, and home visiting. Responsibilities may include conducting empirical studies, writing research proposals, synthesizing research literature, developing research protocols, leading site visits and data collection activities, quantitative and/or qualitative data analysis, and writing and presenting reports orally to academic and policy audiences. Applicants will be considered if they have a Master’s degree or a Ph.D. in human development, developmental psychology, family studies, public policy, sociology, or related social science field. Open until filled.

Economist, Office of Planning, Food and Drug Administration. The FDA anticipates openings for economists at the GS-12 to GS-13 level and at the GS-14 level. The positions (JOE ID# 201310_399229) are located in the Economics Staff, Office of Planning in the Office of the Commissioner, and cover agency responsibilities for prescription and over-the-counter drugs, medical and radiological devices, biological products, tobacco, and veterinary products. We welcome all candidates with expertise in applied microeconomics, such as health, labor and demography, development, industrial organization, welfare economics, and international trade. Submission deadline: December 9, 2013.

Provost’s Postdoctoral Research Scientist/Scholar, Columbia School of Social Work. CSSW is seeking a postdoctoral scholar with a PhD in economics, public policy, social work, sociology or a related discipline to work with senior Social Policy faculty in conducting original research and scholarship on fragile families and child well-being. The goal of Columbia University Provost’s Postdoctoral Research Scientist/Scholar program is to enhance the recruitment of outstanding postdoctoral scholars for underrepresented groups. The post-doc will work with CSSW Social Policy faculty (Irwin Garfinkel, Ronald Mincy, Julien Teitler, and Jane Waldfogel) for up to three years on an original research agenda utilizing data for the Fragile Families and Child Wellbeing study. Submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

"Big Data" Analytics Social Scientist (Assistant Professor), Ohio State University. "Big Data" Analytics Social Scientist candidates must demonstrate an active research program with strong potential for external funding. The ideal candidate will also have ongoing and completed research that uses innovative methods for large-scale data analysis to investigate substantive research questions. Possible research applications range from research on how business managers can improve the processes they use to plan the menu of products or services they offer or how business managers choose to market those products/services across a network of sources/locations/industry channels; research on private and public institutions that offer mental and physical health programs and services, how managers of those organizations can improve the efficacy of programs they run that seek to improve individuals' physical and mental health; and research on how individuals, couples, and households allocate time, money, and other resources when they take life-course decisions to study, marry, divorce, consume, exercise, travel, save, and retire. A PhD is required in either: economics, information systems, epidemiology, demography, mathematics, or statistics. Submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

Visiting Assistant Professor of Global Health, Davidson College. Visiting Assistant Professor - Global Health Davidson College’s Medical Humanities Program seeks applications for a two-year visiting position in Global Health with expertise in the social determinants of health, inequality, and public policy. We are particularly interested in candidates with demonstrated teaching and research excellence focused on pragmatic solutions for resolving global health disparities. Application deadline: December 15, 2013.

(2) Advanced Assistant/Associate Professor of Sociology, UCLA. The UCLA Department of Sociology invites applications for two positions at either the rank of Advanced Assistant or Associate Professor with tenure starting in Fall 2014. We are particularly interested in applications from scholars who work in the areas of stratification, demography, or race & ethnicity, but we welcome applications from scholars in all substantive areas contributing to excellence in research, teaching, diversity, and collegial service. Submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

Research Scientist, ICPSR, University of Michigan. The Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR) seeks to appoint a distinguished social science educator as Director of the ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research. The Director of the ICPSR Summer Program has primary responsibility for recruiting, retaining, and assisting the Program’s outstanding faculty, and in overseeing the student experience. The Summer Program Director manages a small year-round team and supervises a seasonal staff of more than 100 faculty, teaching assistants, and support staff. Submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

PAA Fellowship. The Population Association of America is delighted to offer an exciting opportunity for PAA members: participation in the prestigious Science and Technology Fellowship Program of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS). This fellowship brings researchers to Washington, DC to use population science, outside of the academic setting, to inform public policy and work for one year in a federal agency. The fellowship pays a competitive salary. Submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

Postdoctoral Scholar, Stanford Center on Poverty and Inequality. The Stanford Center on Poverty and Inequality, one of three national poverty centers, is seeking a postdoctoral scholar for 2014-15 (with a possibility of renewal for a second year). The scholar is expected to complete her or his own research as well as work collaboratively with Center faculty, staff, and students to produce original scholarship on trends in poverty and inequality. The appointment will be for one year with a start date of October 1, 2014. Submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

Assistant/Associate Professor in Human Dimensions of the Environment, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. The Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Sciences at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign seeks an Assistant or Associate Professor in human dimensions of the environment, expected to begin August 16, 2014. Qualified applicants will have expertise in applying theories, concepts, and methods from the social and behavioral sciences to the study of environmental and natural resource issues and policies. A Ph.D. and substantive research in the social sciences is required. Potential disciplines include sociology, geography, anthropology, political science, or psychology. Application deadline: December 16, 2013.

Assistant Professor/Associate Professor Food Policy, Baruch College. The School of Public Affairs at Baruch College invites applications for a scholar of food policy. The start date is August 2014, the rank is assistant or associate professor, and the appointment is tenure-track. Areas of specialization include food production and distribution, food security, food choice and diet-related health outcomes, access to healthy food, and agriculture and nutrition policy. We are interested in scholars whose work has both domestic and global implications.

Submission deadline: December 20, 2013.

Postdoctoral Associate, Duke Clinical Research Institute, Duke University. The Duke Clinical Research Institute (DCRI) is seeking qualified applicants for a Postdoctoral Associate. This position is funded by grants from the National Health, Lung, and Blood Institute and the National Institute on Aging and involves interdisciplinary research on the social, behavioral, and psychosocial antecedents of cardiovascular disease and related outcomes. The position will provide excellent opportunities for career development and collaboration with a multidisciplinary team of investigators in sociology, cardiology, epidemiology, and health services research. In addition to direct mentorship, the postdoc will have opportunities to integrate with the DCRI Research Fellowship Program, DCRI Outcomes, and contribute to new and on-going research activities. Submission deadline: December 31, 2013.

International Development Research Center (IDRC) Fellow at the Center for Global Development. The Center for Global Development (CGD), an independent Washington-based think tank, invites applications from scholars from developing countries for a one-year visiting fellows program sponsored by Canada's International Development Research Centre (IDRC). CGD is an independent, non-partisan, Washington, DC think tank dedicated to reducing global poverty and inequality through policy-oriented research and active engagement on development issues with the policy community and the public. Submission deadline: December 31, 2013.

Chief and Senior Investigator, Health Behavior Branch, DHHS NIH/NICHD. The Division of Intramural Population Health Research (DIPHR) of the Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) invites candidates to apply for the position of Chief and Senior Investigator of the Health Behavior Branch. As one of three intramural branches in the newly reorganized Division, the Health Behavior Branch has as its mission the implementation of original research aimed at understanding human behavior and the design of interventions to maximize the health and well-being of populations, including infants, children, young adults, and pregnant women. Submission deadline: January 1, 2014.

Visiting Assistant Professor of Sociology, Reed College. The Department of Sociology invites applications for one-year visiting professor position for the 2014-15 academic year, with the possibility of reappointment for 2015-16. We expect to make an appointment at the visiting assistant professor level, although more senior candidates may be considered. Primary areas of research and teaching should include one or more of the following fields: Law, Science, Medicine, Education, Work, Organizations, the Professions, Criminology/Ddeviance, Immigration and Race, Stratification, Social Psychology, Small Groups, Family, Gender, Sexuality, Cities. Application deadline: January 10, 2014.

Assistant/Associate Professor of Global Urban Immigration, University of Illinois-Chicago. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Illinois at Chicago is seeking candidates for a tenure-track faculty position (job#: 36953) at the Assistant/Associate professor rank in border studies beginning August 2014. This hire is part of the “Global Urban Immigration” cluster, which is part of the Chancellor’s cluster hiring Initiative. Over the next several years the Global Urban Immigration Cluster will make three additional hires. We are seeking scholars working on border issues/studies, broadly conceived, from disciplines and/or areas including Anthropology, Geography, Political Science, Latin American and Latino Studies, Gender and Women Studies, African American Studies, Sociology, Urban Studies, and Humanities, whose work relates to major contemporary debates on immigration. Application deadline: January 12, 2013.

Postdoctoral Fellow in Family Demography and Individual Development, The Pennsylvania State University. The Population Research Institute (PRI) at The Pennsylvania State University anticipates an opening for a postdoctoral fellow in the NICHD-supported Family Demography and Individual Development training program, starting on or about August 15, 2014. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in demography, sociology, family studies, or a related social science discipline by the starting date. A strong background in quantitative analysis of social science data is desirable. The training program is oriented toward a postdoctoral research apprenticeship in two areas: family demography, and life course development processes and outcomes. Application deadline: January 15, 2014.

Postdoctoral Fellow, Population Studies Center, Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan. The Population Studies Center expects to have openings for postdoctoral fellows sponsored by National Institute on Aging (NIA) and The Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD). Positions to start on or about September 1, 2014. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in demography, public health, or one of the social sciences (e.g., sociology, economics, psychology) at the starting date. Application deadline: January 15, 2014.

Director of Census Data Center and Open Rank Professor, Department of Sociology and Rural Studies, South Dakota State University. The Department of Sociology and Rural Studies at South Dakota State University seeks an experienced demographer to serve as an open rank faculty member and Director of the department’s Rural Life and Census Data Center. The Director is expected to oversee the work of Data Center staff and graduate students; manage publication schedules; administer grants and contracts; and perform teaching, research, and graduate student advising duties in areas of expertise. Successful applicants must have a PhD in Sociology, Demography, Population Studies, or a closely-related field; a record of successful publications in peer reviewed journals; and be experienced in quantitative demographic analysis. Applicants must be able to teach graduate demography classes; and, demonstrate successful grant and contract activity; effective grant and contract management; and effective written, verbal, and communication skills. Knowledge of upper Great Plains demography and sociology is strongly desired, however the research programs of the Director and Data Center need not be limited to this area. Submission deadline: January 15, 2014.

Postdoctoral Fellowship, Population Studies and Training Center, Brown University. PSTC-affiliated postdocs focus on developing their research, publication and grant portfolio and may teach a course (depending on the position’s funding sources) and have the opportunity to participate in Brown courses. Submission deadline: January 15, 2014.

Developing Asia Health Policy Fellowship, Stanford University. The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center, Stanford University and the Asia Pacific Observatory on Health Systems and Policy (APO) are pleased to announce their collaborative Developing Asia Health Policy Fellowship. We welcome applications from recent PhDs who are nationals of countries in the Asia-Pacific region; applicants from low- and middle-income countries are preferred. Applicants are encouraged from a variety of disciplines, such as public health, demography, sociology, political science, economics, anthropology, public policy, law, health services research and related fields. Submission deadline: January 15, 2014.

Tenure-Track Position, Migration/Ethnic Relations, University of Western Ontario. The Faculty of Social Science at Western University invites applications for a Tier II Canada Research Chair in the area of Migration and Ethnic Relations. In accordance with the regulations set for Tier II Canada Research Chairs, the candidate will hold a PhD (obtained within the last ten years), and will be an outstanding emerging scholar who has demonstrated innovation with the potential to achieve international recognition within five to ten years. The focus for this position is not discipline-specific or region-specific. Application deadline: January 17, 2014.

RAND Postdoctoral Training Program in the Study of Aging. The RAND Postdoctoral Training Program in the Study of Aging enables outstanding junior scholars in demographic and aging research to sharpen their analytic skills, learn to communicate research results effectively, and advance their research agenda. Housed within RAND Labor and Population, the program blends formal and informal training and extensive collaboration with distinguished researchers in a variety of disciplines. Fellowships are for one year, renewable for a second. Each fellow receives a competitive annual stipend, travel stipend and health insurance. Submission deadline: February 21, 2014.

(2) Health Services Researcher, Public Policy Institute (PPI), AARP. PPI is seeking two energetic, self-starting health services researchers to join our health team. The primary role of the position will be to design and conduct research using large scale claims, clinical, and behavioral data to which we have access under a collaborative agreement with our research partners. The position is open to candidates with a strong research background in health care, with preference given to individuals with experience and interest in Medicare, Medicaid, prescription drugs, and health policy research. The successful candidates will play a leadership role in exploring the potential of the data, developing a research agenda using the data, conducting the research, and publishing results. Researchers will be expected to disseminate results through papers, presentations, policy briefs, and other distribution channels. These are full-time, permanent positions located in Washington, DC. The ideal individuals will have a PhD, or equivalent, in economics, public health, epidemiology, social sciences, public policy, health services research, or other relevant discipline, or an M.D. or M.P.H. with substantial research experience. Submission deadline: April 1, 2014.

CPC STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

Demography Minor. The CPC offers a campus-wide minor in Demography that is open to PhD students in all social science graduate fields. Admission to the Demography minor requires that at least one member of the student’s special committee is a CPC affiliate. Students interested in signing up for the Demography minor should contact Lindy Williams or Geysa Smiljanic.

Graduate Student Funding Opportunity. Graduate student needed to assist on the NSF funded project “Social Indicators for Rural Alaska Communities.” The project involves a significant amount of work at a US Census Research Data Center using US Census American Community Survey microdata. This is a 3 year project and work will likely start in December 2013 or January 2014. We have budgeted for partial tuition remission and a stipend for a qualified student. If you are interested in learning more about the project please email Lance Howe.

ESRC Studentships (1+3 and +3) in Population Studies/ Demography, London School of Economics. The Department of Social Policy is now accepting applications for the 1+3 and +3 ESRC studentship scheme. The 1+3 scheme provides funding for a one year research training Masters linked to a three year PhD and is designed for UK and EU students who have not already completed an ESRC recognised programme of research training. Students with appropriate research training at standard entry requirement may proceed directly to the three year MPhil/PhD programme on the +3 scheme. These studentships provide fees and a stipend of £15,726 per annum for UK and EU students. Transfer from the one-year MSc programme to the three-year MPhil/PhD programme is dependent on achieving standard PhD entry requirement marks in the MSc. For entry in 2014/15 there will be up to 3 studentships available for either +3 or 1+3 study in Population Studies / Demography. Submission deadline: January 2, 2014.

2014 RWJ Health Policy Doctoral Fellowship. The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) Center for Health Policy at the Meharry Medical College will award up to five new doctoral fellowships for its Health Policy Fellows Program. The Health Policy Fellows Program is a prestigious doctoral fellowship program for students with educational and research interests that include health and health policy analysis and research. The RWJF Health Policy Fellows Program seeks to increase the participation of underrepresented groups throughout the nation in the development, implementation, and analysis of health policy. Priority deadline: January 15, 2014.

Scholarships for Masters or PhDs at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. Postgraduate funding opportunities at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine for a PhD in Demography and Health (DH) or Reproductive and Sexual Health Research (RSHR) are available to accepted applicants. Both pathways are offered in 1+3, +3 and +4 structures at LSHTM, or as a 4 year scholarship which includes one year at the European School of Demography. Submission deadline: January 31, 2014.

Pre- and Postdoctoral Visiting Research Fellows, Center for Comparative Immigration Studies (CCIS), UC San Diego. CCIS offers a limited number of Visiting Research Fellowships at both the predoctoral and postdoctoral levels each academic year. These awards are to support advanced research and writing on any aspect of international migration and refugee flows, in any of the social sciences, history, and law. Due to funding constraints, CCIS awards fellowships only to scholars who have a current or former affiliation with a University of California campus. The duration of the fellowship is usually 9-10 months. No summer-only fellowships will be awarded. Submission deadline: January 31, 2014 (for 2014-15).
