WORKSHOPS

CPP Statistics Core: Stephen Raudenbush Workshop on Multilevel Modeling. May 25-26, 2010. This workshop is open to CPP affiliated faculty, staff, and students. To register, please contact Carrie Chalmers.

Call for Presenters: 2010 Consumer Expenditure Survey Microdata Users’ Workshop. Have you used the public-use microdata files from the Consumer Expenditure Survey (CE) in your research? If so, the BLS invites you to present your work at the upcoming 5th annual CE Microdata Users’ Workshop, which will be held July 14-16, 2010 at BLS headquarters in Washington, DC. To be considered, please send an abstract of your presentation to the Workshop Planning Team by May 17, 2010.

CALLS FOR PAPERS

Call for Papers: Supplement on Data Systems and Social Determinants of Health. Public Health Reports (PHR) is inviting papers for a Supplement on Social Determinants of Health and Data Systems. The Guest Editors for this Supplement are Drs. Kathleen McDavid Harrison and Hazel D. Dean. The Editors seek manuscripts that advance the scientific knowledge and public health research, practice, and policy on data systems related to addressing social determinants of health (SDH). Deadline for submission: June 1, 2010.

Call for Papers: "Men, Masculinities, and Family Planning in Africa." "Men, Masculinities, and Family Planning in Africa" Conference, University of California at Los Angeles, October 14-15, 2010. This conference will consider a gender perspective on fertility and family planning that is inclusive of men and boys. The first day will focus on the broader constructions of African masculinities in different regional, ethnic and national contexts with special attention to fertility and sexuality. The second day will address family planning in varied African contexts, with special attention to gender inclusivity. Abstracts (250 words) are due by June 30, 2010.
EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES
